

Entangled Religions

Interdisciplinary Journal for the Study of Religious Contact and Transfer

Call for Papers

Entangled Religions is a peer-reviewed online journal that aims at bundling state-of-the-art scholarly research on religious contact and transfer from all scientific disciplines.

This allows Entangled Religions to bridge boundaries and divides between different fields of expertise relating to cross- and trans-religious processes.

Our orientation towards diversity of scientific backgrounds and high-quality publications allows us to present ground-breaking scientific findings from a wide range of fields of research to an equally diverse readership to support synergy and debate.

Would you like to join?

Visit us at <http://www.er.ceres.rub.de> to find out more about our publication requirements and review procedures.

Or contact us at er-contact@rub.de.

We are looking forward to your contributions!

A project of

SPONSORED BY THE

Federal Ministry of Education and Research