

Undergraduate Programme Leader / Senior Lecturer in Social Science

UCL – Department of Social Science

We are seeking to appoint a Senior Lecturer (equivalent to Associate Professor in the North American system) in social science (sociology, social policy or psychology) to lead and develop a new flagship undergraduate programme in Social Science based at a leading UK research-intensive university department.

The Senior Lecturer will be a member of a new multi-disciplinary Department of Social Science and his or her teaching activities will contribute to promoting mixed research methods in social science training.

The appointment is full-time, available from 1st September 2015 or as soon as possible thereafter.

Application Deadline: 8th July 2015

Interview Date: 30th July 2015

We particularly welcome female applicants and those from an ethnic minority, as they are under-represented within UCL at this level.
