

Census Applications: Using the UK's population census data

16 - 17 July 2015

Humanities Bridgeford Street Building, University of Manchester

Now that nearly all census outputs are out and being used the UK Data Service are hosting a two-day conference to celebrate the UK censuses.

The conference will include three plenary sessions:

The value of the Census

Making use of the Census

Challenges for the future

Speakers include:

Danny Dorling and Bethan Thomas

Ian Cope

Keith Dugmore

Office for National Statistics, National Records of Scotland and Northern Ireland Census
Offices

General conference places will cost £100 per person to include drinks, lunch and conference dinner. Student places are available at £50 per person.

Residential accommodation should be booked separately. A Google map of hotels within walking distance of the conference venue is available.

To view the programme and book a place please go to <http://census.ukdataservice.ac.uk/news-and-events/eventsitem/?id=4074>