

The Tyndale Society

9th International Tyndale Conference - Oxford 2015

October 1-4 Hertford College, Oxford

Meals

Lunch and an evening meal will be served to all conference participants, whether attending for the whole event, part of the event, or just a day. Breakfast will be included for participants resident in college. Meals will be served in the college refectory. Lunch will be a self-service meal with a wide menu choice, including vegetarian options. Refreshments will include soft drinks. Wine will be available at both lunch and dinner, but must be paid for separately. Everyone at the Conference on Friday 2nd will be invited to the Gala Dinner that evening. Those with special dietary requirements should indicate this on the booking form below.

Accommodation

There is a choice of accommodation for participants. The only rooms with ensuite bathrooms are in the Graduate Centre, a 15 minute walk from the college (or maybe a short taxi ride). But these facilities are limited. Most of the available rooms are in the main college buildings and have shared bathrooms. However it is unlikely that a bathroom would be shared between more than two bedrooms. This is undergraduate accommodation and, as such, fairly basic.

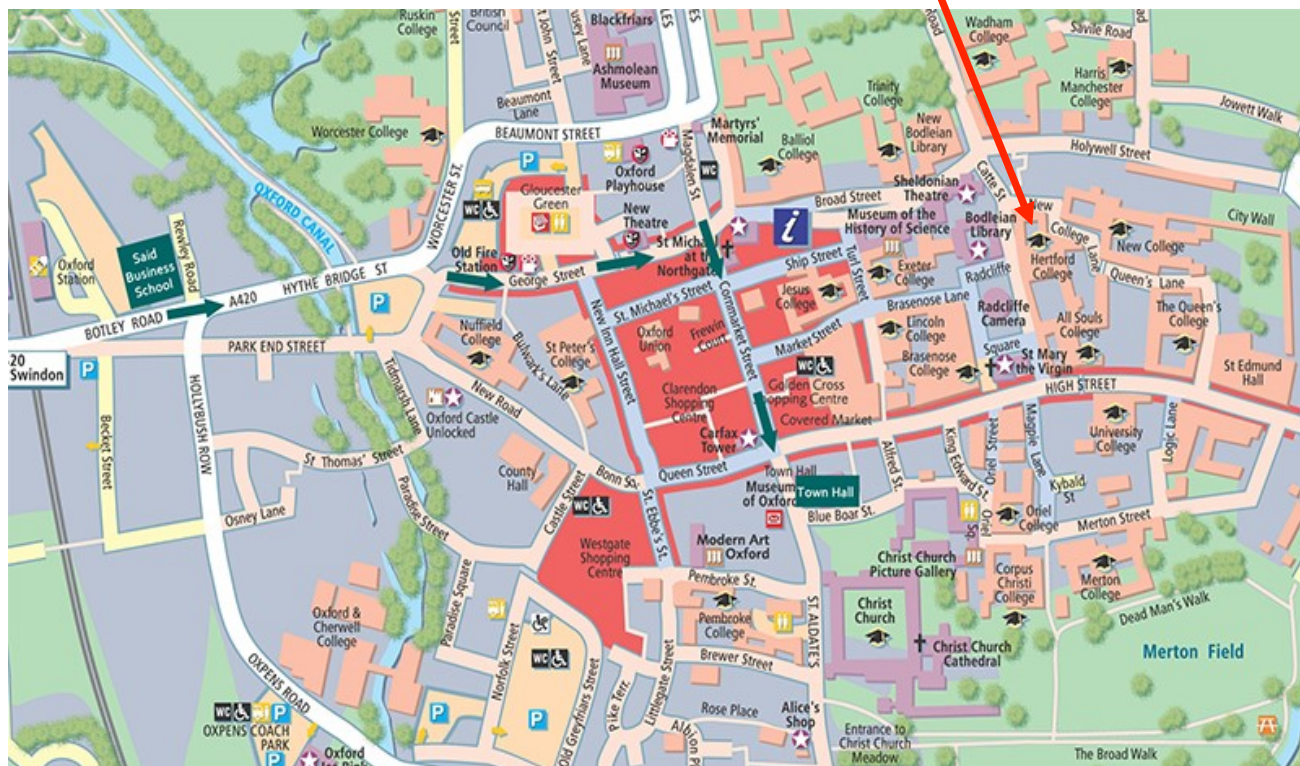

Participants are, of course, free to make other accommodation arrangements and the Conference fee structure allows for non-resident rates. There are several hotels in and around the city, where rooms can be reserved directly or via any of the internet booking sites.

Payments

As a small, voluntary body the Tyndale Society is not able to process credit or debit card payments. TS can accept cheques in sterling or bank transfers. Overseas participants may request a PayPal invoice from David Ireson (contact details below). Those wishing to make US dollar payments should also contact David Ireson.
