

The Loyola Institute in Trinity College Dublin is organising an international conference, June 22nd-24th 2016 entitled The Role of Church in a Pluralist Society: Good Riddance or Good Influence?

This conference is for all who are concerned about the role of the Church as we move forward into the twenty-first century and will provide an opportunity to hear world renowned experts such as:

Cardinal Reinhard Marx, Archbishop of Munich and Freising, and a vocal advocate in support of the rights of refugees and migrants.

Professor William T. Cavanaugh, DePaul University, Chicago.

Professor Terry Eagleton, widely regarded as Britain's most influential living literary critic and theorist.

Catherine Pepinster, editor of the influential Catholic weekly The Tablet.

Over the three days there are 16 main speakers, all leaders in their field, and more than 30 parallel papers with speakers from North America, Europe and Australia.

For more details of the conference see www.loyolatcd.com