

Call for Papers

The Graduate Journal of Harvard Divinity School is seeking papers for its 2017 issue. We publish academic work from across the humanities and social sciences on any topic relevant to the study of religion, the field of religious studies, and theology.

Submission Requirements:

- Submissions should be around 20–25 pages double-spaced.
- Include a cover page with your name, institution, degree program, and a brief paper abstract (100 words or less).
- Engage deeply with a specific field and offer a compelling argument that contributes to that field.
- Follow the Chicago Manual of Style for citations and include a bibliography page.

Submission Deadline: January 10, 2017
