

the Religious Studies Unit in Hannover will host the biannual conference of the German Association for the Study of Religion (Deutsche Vereinigung für Religionswissenschaft, DVRW), Sept. 3 - 6, 2019. The conference runs under the theme "Conceptualising Religion". More information on the conference is available in English on our website (<https://www.dvrw2019.uni-hannover.de/en/>) or in the call for papers attached to this e-mail.

The submission procedure for panel sessions and papers is open now. We are looking forward to submissions in German and English. For more information about the procedure and for the online submission forms, please visit our website at <https://www.dvrw2019.uni-hannover.de/en/registration-and-submission/>.

Accepted open panel sessions are automatically activated for paper submission. You find a list of accepted open panels at <https://kurse-konferenz.luis.uni-hannover.de/kurse/veranstaltung/list/mandant/dvrwPanelBeitragAnmelden>. You may submit papers to the open sessions using the forms provided via the same link. I will be happy to assist you in case you have further questions.